BUILDING FALLS INTO DEEP HOLE

West Wall of Ogden Transfer and Storage Structure Gives Way and Drops Into the Excavation For the Peery Building on Hudson Avenue--Trunks, Beds, Books, Tables and All Crash to the Ground--Narrow Escape of Workmen.

Several men had narrow escapes from death at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon when the west wall of the Ogden Transfer and Storage building, weakened by undermining, fell into the excavation for the Peery building on Hudson avenue. There was only a moment's warning but that was sufficient for the cry of "Look out!" to be given, and at that the workmen scattered. In another half second, the brick wall fell tumbling into the pit and on top of the bricks rolled several tons of furniture of all descriptions, partially filling the excavation.

A dense cloud of dust prevented the laborers for the moment determining whether any had been hurt. A hasty inventory was taken when the dust cleared, and it was found that all were fortunate in getting away.

Two horses, hitched to a scraper, had the closest call. The rumble frightened them and they dashed on the line, only an instant before the debris piled up on the ground where the animals had stood.

R. Ford, the owner of the storage building, would give no estimate as to the amount of damage, but said that there was $15,000 worth of furniture stored in the building. He holds the contractors responsible for the loss.

When J. P. O'Neill was asked regarding the accident, he assumed all blame, stating that the braces had given way beneath the building.

The excavation for the Peery building was about complete and the cement foundations were being made. It was in order to strengthen the foundation underneath the two-story storage building that the digging had extended beneath the adjoining wall.

Braces had taken the place of the foundation which had been removed and forms had been placed for the concrete.

At the time of the accident, there were about ten men at work, one of whom was handling the scraper. A falling brick and a vibrating of the walls was observed and the cry of warning was given. Even as the alarm was shouted, bricks and tons of furniture began to pour into the cellar, for the two floors of the building had given way when the foundation broke.

Practically all the goods that had been stored in the west end of the building were precipitated to the ground, but there were several boxes which were only held from sliding by slight support. There were trunks, beds, stoves, tables and every other form of household furniture.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent by the employees of the Construction company in removing the furniture to a place of safety.

YOUNG WOMAN A MOUNTAIN CLIMBER

North Ogden, June 18.--The funeral services over the remains of John Richards, who died at his home in North Ogden were well attended and the floral contributions evidenced the respect of those who knew him.

The services were conducted by Bishop Frederick Barker, the choir furnished the music, assisted by Charles and Hattie Storey, Hazel Berrett and Leon Berrett; the opening prayer was by James Storey of the Stake High Council and the closing one by Geo. E. Brown of the local bishopric.

Remarks were made by B. F. Blaylock, M. N. Reynolds and John W. Gibson. Interment was in the North Ogden cemetery and the grave was dedicated by David E. Randall.

John Richards was a son of William Richards and Elizabeth Bowens, born at Neath, Glamorganshire, South Wales, August 24, 1838, where he grew up to manhood, following the avocation of mining, smelting and kindred pursuits. He married Ann Williams by whom he had a large family, most of whom died in infancy. Two daughters only survive him, Mrs. Mary A. Bradshaw of Evanston, Wyo., and Mrs. Elizabeth Daniels of North Ogden.

He was baptized in the Mormon church September 15, 1881, by Edw. Harmon and five weeks later set sail for America, five months ahead of his wife on the ship "Wyoming," in company with 195 Saints, under the direction of L. R. Martineau. He arrived in North Ogden, November 11, where he has resided practically ever since. His wife preceded him to the grave nearly three years ago and he had lived a very lonely life ever since, much of the time nearly helpless.

Miss Zina E. Brown, daughter of George and Barbara Brown, will be married today in the Salt Lake Temple to Elder David Handy and will make her future home at Soda Springs. She was kindly remembered by the Young Ladies' Mutual with a parcel shower at the residence of her parents on Washington avenue, in recognition of her long and efficient labors as secretary of the association. She was the recipient of many presents of especial value to her in her new field of venture.

Trinidad, Colo., June 18.--Three were seriously injured early today when an automobile driven by Charles E. Carter, a prominent business man, plunged over a fifty foot embankment on La Veta Pass, fifty miles northwest of here. Frank Lewis and C. H. Chapman, were the others members of the party. All are in a serious condition.

After several complaints had come to the police station this afternoon concerning the undesirable actions of an alleged mendicant who was operating in the Bench resident district, Guard Thomas Lever was sent out to take the man in custody. By inquiring at various residences, it was learned that the fellow had been begging old shoes and clothing.

By tracing the fellow in this manner, Guard Lever caught him on Jefferson, between Twenty-eighth and Twenty-seventh streets, who gave his name as Joseph Lee and his occupation as peddler.

As he was led to the cell Lee turned to Lever and said:

"What is this country coming to when they send a Franchman like you to arrest an American citizen like me? Tommy does not know whether he was insulted or complimented."

The young lady is the adopted daughter of Martin Dalebout of the Dalebout Brothers' bakery and immigrated to this country with Mr. Dalebout. When the bakery was established, Miss Dalebout assisted in the store department where she met Mr. Rond, a driver of one of the wagons. The friendship extended into a love affair and culminated in an engagement.

EAGLES IN THE CANYON TODAY

The second day of the tri-state convention of Eagles began this morning with a business session in the lodge room of the Eagles club. The meeting adjourned at noon.

Ogden canyon is the goal of all Eagles this afternoon and evening. To handle the delegates and visiting Eagles from the three states, the Ogden Rapid Transit company put trailers on all the afternoon cars and the trailers were needed. Besides those who came to Ogden to attend the business meetings and be on hand at the merry-makings, all local lodge men who could get away from business rode to the canyon.

An attractive afternoon of sports has been arranged, with music and dancing in the afternoon and evening.

The three days of the convention will conclude tomorrow evening with the competitive drill between the various degree teams for the aerie cup. With the Salt Lake team will come a large delegation of rosters.

The election of officers for the ensuing year will take place tomorrow and also the place of the next convention must be selected.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Lucy Lee, wife of J. M. Lee, having left his home, her lawful place of abode, on the 23rd day of May, 1915, states he will no longer be responsible for any obligations or debts contracted by her after this date, May 27, 1915.

BANKER SEES A FUTURE FOR THIS CITY

J. A. Kidd, a banker of Lenepia, Okla., is registered at the New Healy hotel and is so favorably impressed with Ogden that he is to remain two weeks before continuing on his sight-seeing tour of the northwest. He has sold out his banking interests and is looking up the resources of this city with a view of locating here.

Mr. Kidd stated this morning that his city is in the heart of the oil district of Oklahoma, where oil is found nearer the surface than in other districts. This, he said, gives added value to the wells for the reason that the cost of securing the oil is less than where it is necessary to bore to great depth.

In company with Mrs. Kidd and his niece, Mr. Kidd visited the canyon, yesterday and was impressed with the scenery. He admires Ogden's residence district and the parks. The building activity of the city attracted his attention and he believes from his observations that Ogden has a great future.

PLACING POLES FOR THE GREAT WHITE WAY

Rapid progress is being made in digging holes for the iron poles which are to be used for the "Great White Way" of the city and at the present rate of progress the poles will be in position next week.

Only two days have been taken up so far in the work and the men have completed the excavations from Twenty-second street to Twenty-fifth, on both sides of Washington avenue. Holes for the block from Twenty-fifth to Twenty-sixth will be dug by tomorrow noon and it will require only two days on Twenty-fifth street, from Washington avenue to the depot.

The poles will be placed in the ground about 5 1/2 feet from the surface of the sidewalks and they will be held solidly with concrete.

The work of making wire connections for lighting and also the placing of the "span wires" for the trolley wire used by the Rapid Transit company, will require a number of days, but it is said by those having the construction in hand that the system will be ready by the early part of July.

LICENSE FEE IS REFUNDED

On the recommendation to Mayor A. G. Fell the firm of Bauchman and Herdt this morning was refunded $25 which had been paid on a license to conduct an electrical business in the city. It was reported by the mayor that the parties had not operated in the city, although they had paid the license fee.

Engineer H. J. Craven presented the board of city commissioners with the plans of Peble Park addition to Ogden survey and they were placed on file. There was no other business before the board.

FEARS COME TO RELATIVES OF BOYS

Relatives of two Ogden boys left the court room crying this morning when C. P. Ophelkens and W. H. Hendershot were arraigned before Judge W. H. Reeder on the charge of taking electric wire from Glenwood park. The complaint charging the boys with the felony was sworn to by P. D. Kline, manager of the Ogden Rapid Transit company.

Until it was explained by Judge Reeder that the crime of which they are charged is punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary, the two boys did not appreciate the seriousness of the trouble. They were ignorant of court procedure and could not understand why it was necessary to have or waive a preliminary hearing. The two finally agreed to have the preliminary hearing and Friday was set for the date.

LETTERS DISCLOSE INSIDE OF FIGHT

Has it come to this--that a United States senator can be corrupted by a square meal with trimmings?--Chicago Inter-Ocean.

lipine resolution put through. I read carefully the "Beet Gazette." My judgment is that you had not better allow Roderus to get your name too often in print as some one will begin to comment on it. It seems to me that you can do better work for the cause by not being thought connected with the paper in any way.

July 18, 1907, Oxnard wrote from New York to Palmer:

"I prefer that you leave the Cuban question alone for the present. If we begin talking it will start them raising money and talking back. It opens the fight which I think had better be kept quiet at present."

"Regarding the trust, I would neither attack nor defend them. We don't want a fight with them if we can help it. Nor do we want to let them fight us quietly if attacked."

Oxnard wrote to Palmer on July 1, 1908:

"After going over the situation with our friends here, most carefully, it was deemed best that I should not put in an appearance at the Denver convention and I feel that it might be better if you also stayed away. It is all right for Morey and Gove to be there, but I feel that our presence would do no good and might do some harm with our Republican friends in Washington next winter. All here take the same view."

A letter from Oxnard to Palmer, August 1, 1907, in part:

"Regarding the vacancies on the Philippine committee. It is true that nothing can be done until next winter, but I spoke to Foster and Newlands (he told me he was O. K.) and asked them to apply for the vacancies made by the Tennessee and Idaho senators. They told me they would, and there the matter stands. I understood from Teller that he did not want the position owing to his health and the necessity of fighting I wanted him, but after that I spoke to Newlands."

Another letter from Oxnard to Palmer:

"I note what you say about Teller. I am glad he is willing to go on the committee, but I see no harm in having Newlands try for it too. I am committed to him already."

"I wish Gove would not 'butt in' without consulting me. He is too apt to do that. I am going to call him down sharply at the first opportunity, it is very bad management and I won't have it."

"I saw Foster's political manager in Washington yesterday and impressed on him the importance of Foster's getting Garmack's place."

Letter to Oxnard.

Another written from Irving Park, Chicago, October 7, 1907, to Oxnard at Upperville, Va., said:

"Wakeman was with Uncle Joe for four hours and feels that he accomplished something, though he did not feel at liberty to tell me much in detail. From here he went to Cincinnati at Foraker's request to meet him, then to Cleveland and back to New York. He is leaving no stone unturned in his efforts to get real protectionists put onto the committee on ways and means to fill the five vacancies. He is certain that Fordney for one will be appointed, but did not mention any other names. His advice is that we have as many business and manufacturing concerns as possible write to the speaker at Danville and without mentioning or suggesting any names, strongly request that real protectionists be placed on the ways and means committee to fill vacancies."

It strikes me that if this is done and each one be urged to urge his friends to do likewise, the next two months ought to pile up such a lot of letters as to at least make an impression on the speaker. You have such a raft of friends among prominent business men that if you were to devote a little time to seeing and writing them, the results would be surely worth while. Of course I don't calculate that we be able to control that committee in case they bring in a Philippine tariff reduction bill, but the more strength we show in the House and more strength we develop there, the stronger we will, of course, be in the senate."

Oxnard Gets Busy.

To Palmer, October 15, 1907, Oxnard wrote from Upperville, Va.:

"I had been trying to find out what chances we had on ways and means and managed to get the information you give on that line. Will bring all pressure I can on Cannon. His political manager, Congressman Littauer of New York, is a strong personal friend of mine, and this summer at Saratoga outlined to me his plan
